

Irish Tax Review – Article Proposal Form

We welcome contributions from all tax practitioners and specialists on relevant and timely issues for our quarterly journal, Irish Tax Review.

Articles proposals are reviewed by the Editor and Irish Tax Review Board as to their suitability and the writer will be contacted directly upon acceptance. Articles should be typed and supplied via e-mail, as an MS Word Document.

Prior to writing an article, please send the following details to Judy Hutchinson at jhutchinson@taxinstitute.ie:

Article Title (in draft)
Author Name(s)
Author Job Title(s)
Author Firm/Company
Short paragraph detailing what the article will cover – include bullet points.

Points to note:

Contributions to Irish Tax Review should be relevant to readers whose tax work is mainly in the context of general accounting or law practice.

Word Count: 2,000-5,000 words – please discuss with Irish Tax Institute. The word count of articles varies, based on content/topic.
